

BIDDLES

WILL BE PUT IN GRAVES TOMORROW

THOUSANDS STOOD IN COLD THIS MORNING.

WAITING FOR AN OPPORTUNITY

To View the Remains—Warden Will Not Forgive Wife—One Biddle Boy in Ohio.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—Thousands of people took a last look this morning at the remains of John and Edward Biddle, as they lay in the little mortuary on South Eleventh street, from 9 o'clock until the noon hour. The double line of viewers was unbroken. Many among them were women, assembled as early as 8 o'clock. Reminful of the biting, wintry blast and driving snow, they stood quietly and patiently awaiting the approach of hour for opening the doors to the public. A large squad of police officers were also early at the place and kept the fast increasing throng in perfect order. The bodies will be buried tomorrow.

BROTHER

Of the Biddles Lives in Ohio—Family Consisted of Four Boys and One Girl.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—According to all information here there were four boys in the Biddle family and one sister. Harry Biddle lives on Mount Washington, is married, and now works in a South Side Gas House. He is steady and reliable. A brother, Patrick, is said to be in Ohio. The sister no one knows. A woman who attended the trial of Jack and Ed was said to be a married sister from Cleveland or near there. The father, Charles Biddle, and mother, are dead. The family lived at Alpena, Mich., but moved to near Hamilton, Canada years ago. No member of the family but Harry is here to attend the funeral of Jack and Edward.

Soffel Can't Forgive.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—Peter Soffel said today that he would never forgive his wife and that they were separated forever.

MRS. SOFFEL

Who is Much Better Today and is Now Apparently Out of Danger.

Talks of Case.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Soffel, wife of Warden Peter Soffel, the woman who aided the Biddle boys to escape and who was wounded during the fatal fight with the detectives, is lying in the Butler hospital, and, though quite sick, her case is no longer considered really serious. She made a statement in the presence of Dr. Bricker, in which she said she had not intended going with the Biddle boys on the night of their escape, but that Ed Biddle's entreaties won her over. She told of their flight, of the night spent at a country schoolhouse and of their sufferings from the bitter cold. Mrs. Soffel denied she was intoxicated on that occasion. She averred further that the detectives were justified in shooting at the boys, for the fugitives intended to kill them, and that she was shot by an officer.

In Supreme Court.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—The Supreme court today handed down its decision against the mandamus petition of Tom L. Johnson to compel the State Board of Equalization to increase its valuation of railways of the state. The demurrer of the Attorney General to the petition was sustained.

SECTIONAL LINES WIPED OUT.

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—The wiping out of all sectional lines was emphasized this morning when the House passed a bill providing that county commissioners shall provide for the proper care of the graves of all United States and Confederate soldiers and sailors in Ohio.

Thos. A. Edison has taken out nearly eight hundred patents on his various inventions.

DUTCH PREMIER

Says King Edward is Anxious for Peace in South Africa Before the Coronation.

Paris, Feb. 4.—In an interview with Dr. Kuyper published here today the Dutch premier is quoted as saying that his recent visit to England was to see how the wind was blowing regarding the South African war. "It blows in the direction of peace," the premier said. "This the King is anxious to have proclaimed before his coronation. God grant him his request. The seed is sown and it will bear fruit."

Dozen Ships Wrecked.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 4.—The storm which caused so much damage through the north and east of the United States seems to have reached its climax here doing much damage to shipping. The reports show at least a dozen vessels were wrecked off the Newfoundland coast. The greatest disaster was that to the steamship Mira. The bottom of the Mira is pounded in and no hope of saving the vessel is entertained. At Lunenburg the greatest damage was probably done. Fourteen vessels were more or less damaged by being swept upon the beach.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 4.—This morning Mrs. Elizabeth Hoveman, 80 years of age, wealthy widow, was burned to death while alone in her house in Winchester. She was standing in front of an open stove when a gust of wind came down the chimney and flew coals under her skirts. When found she was sitting in a chair burning to a crisp.

CONDUCTOR

COULDN'T STAND SNUBS FROM CRUSTY PASSENGERS.

So He Threw Up His Job, Went to the Alaskan Gold Fields, and Struck It Rich.

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—Harrison Smith came here about four years ago from Kansas and secured a position as conductor on one of the traction company's cars. He was a fine looking man, but he was averse to making friends. He was broke and was glad to find anything to do. He put in a year at street car work, but it was evident he did not like it. He was independent and could not stand any snubs from passengers or the company's officers. Smith made a sort of confidant of Theodore Abbott, another street car man, and one morning the latter found a note from Smith awaiting him at the car barns in which Smith said:

"I am going to Alaska. If I win, well and good, if I fail you nor anybody else in the states will ever see me again."

That was three years ago. Yesterday Abbott received a letter from Harrison from Circle City, Alaska, in substance as follows:

MISS ROOSEVELT

Will be Allowed to Attend the King's Coronation.—To be Her Birthday Present.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Miss Alice Roosevelt will receive a unique birthday present from her father when she comes of age next Tuesday. It is for President's consent for her to accompany her uncle and aunt to King Edward's coronation. Commander Cowles will be present at the coronation in aid to Captain Clark, the naval representative. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Cowles, so if Miss Roosevelt goes she will be chaperoned by her aunt.

GUESSES

OVER PRESIDENT'S ACTION IN SCHLEY CASE

BUT WHAT DECISION WILL BE ISN'T KNOWN.

HERE ARE FEW SMALL STRAWS

Which May Show How the Wind is Blowing, But the Indications are Not Conclusive.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Guesses are now being made as to the probable action to be taken by the President on the Schley appeal. Those who are supposed to be close to the chief executive declare that he has already expressed himself partially in favor of the appellant by stating he believes Schley was in actual command at Santiago. As that is about the only point for which Itayner has been contending, such a finding would be substantially a victory for the Admiral. On the other hand it is said that the President will censure the Admiral for the retrograde movement and for his failure to destroy the Colon when she lay at the mouth of the harbor May 31. Yesterday's conference between the President, Secretary Long, Captain C. E. Clark, Captain Wainwright, Rear Admiral Evans and Rear Admiral Taylor was undoubtedly significant.

Of these witnesses Evans is known to be openly opposed to Schley. He has shown this in his "A Sailor's Log Book," in interviews and on the witness stand at the court. The statement industriously circulated by some of Schley's friends and not denied by Evans himself, that the latter occupied the conning tower of the Iowa throughout the action, in spite of the fact that his ship was hardly within range of the Spanish ships, has had anything but a conciliatory effect upon "Fighting Bob" and in his interview with the President, it can certainly be said that his testimony was not biased in favor of the appellant.

Captain Clark, on the contrary, has always been recognized as one of the best witnesses on the Schley side, emphasizing the fact in his statements that the Brooklyn and Oregon bore the brunt of the fight on that day. Still in his testimony at the court there was no admission that Schley was in command of the fleet.

Admiral Taylor is given a position half way between the two from a stand-point of fairness. He fought on the Indiana, and at the conclusion of the battle expostulated with Admiral Sampson for failing to give that ship what its commander thought to be its best credit. His is a most conservative nature and in his testimony he was extremely good, apparently leaning to neither side of the controversy.

Captain Wainwright is perhaps the fairest of the quartet, at least the most neutral. He commanded the Gloucester, a little boat which ran close inshore, closing in with the Spanish torpedo boat destroyers at great risk of being blown out of the water. Before the court he admitted that he was too busy attending to his affairs to waste time watching the other ships and estimating the value of their services. That Secretary Long is not pleased with the way the President's mind is bending is manifest in his bearing after these numerous visits to the White House. He frankly admits that he has not the slightest idea what the President is going to do. It was his intention to leave the cabinet when the Schley incident should be closed by the President's approval of his endorsement of the majority of the verdict. It may come to pass that he will leave through chagrin over the President's failure to uphold in its entirety the stand of the department.

STANDARD OIL DIVIDEND.

New York, Feb. 4.—The Standard Oil company declared a dividend of $20 per share for the quarter.

Steamer Sunk.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 4.—(Building)—Venezuelan revolutionary steamer, Liberator is said to have been sunk at Porto Colombia by a Venezuelan gunboat. The Liberator was undergoing repairs at Porto Colombia.

BUTTER

The All-Absorbing Topic in the House This Week—"Oleo" Bill Sure to Pass.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Butter, real and imitation, colored and uncolored, salt and fresh, will be "worked" in the House for the next three or four days. Some of the members even predict that the "oleo" bill, which is the excuse for all this butter talk will not be brought to a vote before Friday night. The measure is practically certain of passage when the vote is counted, for mighty is the farmer. Mr. Graff, of Illinois, who is managing the bill with its father, Mr. Henry, of Connecticut, has received letters from editors of 150 agricultural newspapers, demanding that the measure be passed.

Morrow's Suicide.

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—Chas. Morrow, former justice of the peace, hanged himself last night at his home. He was despondent over financial affairs.

GEN. YOUNG

Selected by Secretary of War to be the President of the Army War College.

Washington, Feb. 4.—General S. B. M. Young has been selected by the Secretary of War to be President of the Army War College.

General Young is now in Washington on duty with the board of general officers for the selection of camp sites and will be relieved from command of the department of California. In the natural course of events he will be the Lieutenant General commanding the army upon retirement of Gen. Miles in August of 1903. It is considered at the war department that the newly created position of President of the War College will be one of the most important assignments in the army, and General Young is regarded as being especially fitted for the duty.

WEATHER

Bureau issued a Special Bulletin this Morning Showing Conditions Over the Country.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The weather bureau gave out the following this morning:

"An area of high pressure has moved rapidly southeastward from the Dakotas within the last 12 hours and is central this morning over eastern Kansas. The barometer has fallen sharply over night on the upper Iowa region and the upper Ohio valley with light snow. There has also been snow in eastern Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and rain in southern Texas and on the Pacific coast.

"The temperature has fallen in eastern New York, New England, the Missouri valley, Kansas and in portions of the southwest. It has risen slowly in the upper Ohio valley, eastern Tennessee and locally in the east Gulf states.

"Cloudy weather with snow is indicated tonight for the lower lake region and the middle Atlantic states. It will be warmer tonight in eastern New York, eastern Pennsylvania, and New Jersey."

Taft's Testimony.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Governor Taft before the Senate today said there was not a general of the insurgent forces who could not be convicted of deliberate murder of his own countrymen. "The native Filipino is ignorant and cruel," he said. In reply to a question, Taft said he heard of American soldiers flogging Filipinos and of the application of the "water cure" where men's stomachs were filled with water to such an extent they expected to smother and then confessed. Taft said little reliance was to be put on the letters of soldiers describing these things, however.

SMALLPOX AT NEW ALBANY.

New Albany, Ind., Feb. 4.—Smallpox broke out here today for the first time in three years. Harry Smith of Detroit, in jail for swindling, developed a case. A score of prisoners have been exposed and the jail is now quarantined.

Hondo Horror.

San Antonio, Feb. 4.—The latest news from the Hondo mine is that 105 bodies have been recovered. Sixteen of the men are alive but are horribly mangled and will die. There are still twenty bodies in the mines.

ELOPED

WITH YOUNG NEPHEW WHOM SHE HAD REARED.

MISS ELY AND ROGERS THOUGHT TO BE IN DAKOTA.

EFFORT MADE TO FIND THEM.

Parents of the Thirteen Year Old Lad Were Going to Send Him to a Military School.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Chief of Police O'Neill, yesterday afternoon received the following message from Casselton, North Dakota:

"Frank Rogers and Florence Ely are here.

ROYAL BALLARD, "Chief of Police."

Last night Mayor Meredith of Casselton, was reached by long distance telephone and asked to verify the chief's statement. He refused to talk until he had conferred with Chief Ballard, when he said the report was incorrect. It is believed that Mayor Meredith may wish to forestall any publication which may alarm the suspects and thwart their capture.

Detectives and representatives of Chicago newspapers are now speeding to the Dakota town to ascertain if Florence Ely, whose strange infatuation for her thirteen year old nephew caused her to elope with him a few hours before the time set for him to leave his Evanston home for an Eastern military school, has at last been located.

Frank Rogers was brought up from babyhood by Miss Ely. This was largely because of the poor health of Mrs. Rogers, his mother. For the boy Miss Ely forsook her friends and seldom went into society. As time went on it became common comment among the friends of the family that she possessed a great attachment for the child. This pleased the parents until late years when they found it impossible to take the boy with them without the aunt so profound was her attachment for him.

Miss Ely's determination that she should not be separated from the boy finally became a subject of constant distress to the parents. They felt deeply grateful for her care and kindness to the child, but saw trouble ahead in the wishes of the aunt.

When they went away for summer vacations the boy had to be left behind. Friends who knew the family urged them to send Frank to a military school. Mrs. Rogers desired to do so but dreaded the grief of her sister.

It was almost determined by the parents to separate the child and the aunt when the two disappeared. The disappearance created a great sensation. Miss Ely has been known as an extremely quiet and studious young woman. She was devoted to art and reading. She is a little below the average height of a woman and has large, expressive eyes, dark brown in color.

EX-CONVICT

Appointed United States Marshal in Arizona—Flurry is Caused by Announcement Today.

Washington, Feb. 4.—A dispatch received from Cheyenne, Wyo., to the effect that Ben Daniels, just confirmed as United States Marshal of Arizona, is an ex-convict has created a flurry in the Senate and about the White House. The facts in the case will be laid before the President, and he may decide to call for Daniels' resignation.

According to the record of the United States penitentiary at Laramie, Wyo., Daniels entered the prison November 29, 1879, to serve two years for larceny. Those who know Daniels in Wyoming express surprise that he should receive an appointment at the hands of the President and explain it only on the ground that the President was not acquainted with this portion of Daniels' record.

IMPULSE

Seized Him to Look into a Cistern and His Curiosity Saved the Drowning Girl.

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—The curiosity of a boy saved a girl of 19 from drowning in a cistern here yesterday.

Miss Elsie Sweeney tumbled into a cistern in the rear yard of her home, while breaking the ice that had formed on it.

Leo Meyers, a grocer's boy, was driving near Miss Sweeney's home, when the impulse seized him, he says, to stop and look into the cistern. He cannot account for the impulse. He soon got the young lady out of the cistern and by rolling her on a flour barrel resuscitated her.

Cashier Is Short.

Arcanum, O., Feb. 4.—This little country town was shocked yesterday afternoon when the report was circulated that Webb Thompson, assistant cashier of the First National Bank and secretary of the Arcanum Loan and Building association was short in his accounts to the amount of nearly $4,000. Thompson has always been a leading citizen, member of the Council and member of the Methodist church. The shock came much harder because he stood so high in society and municipal affairs. He was a man who never drank, gambled or chewed (tobacco, and to use his own words: "I spent the money on my family."

Thompson has had considerable domestic trouble lately on behalf of his daughter, who recently obtained a divorce.

PLUNGED

INTO THE ICE COLD WATER AND DROWNED.

Bride of Few Weeks Couldn't Bear Separation from Friend of Childhood—Died Together.

Frenchburg, Ky., Feb. 4.—Because one of them was bent on death, and because neither of them could bear the idea of separation, Mrs. Madeline Beck, aged 16, of Menafee county, and her girlhood friend, Miss Marvella Patrick, clasped in one another's arms, threw themselves into the icy waters of Beaver creek. The young wife was successful, and her body now lies cold in death, but her friend was borne up by the drift until she was rescued more dead than alive.

Her condition, however, is critical from the exposure as she may yet be united in death with the friend to whom she proved her devotion in such a strange manner.

The two girls had been friends from their earliest days. A few weeks ago Mrs. Beck was married and went to live with her husband near Frenchburg. She could not be with Miss Patrick as much as before, and it was noticed that for some time she had been despondent and seemed to be getting more and more so every day. Her husband and her family tried to cheer her up, but she would not tell them the troubles that weighed upon her.

Yesterday she called on Miss Patrick and told her she was tired of life and determined to die.

"Then I will go with you," was the immediately expressed determination of the girl friend.

Their plans were soon formed and they decided to drown themselves in Beaver creek. The thermometer was down to zero, and the creek was swollen by the recent rains and filled with floating driftwood. Not deterred by the forbidding manner of the death they had selected, the two proceeded to the bank and with little hesitation, threw themselves into the icy water.

Mrs. Beck at once sank and did not come to the surface again. Miss Patrick, however, was buoyed up by her clothing until she floated to a drift where she lodged. The drift caught in a gorge and the girl was sustained there unconsciously until she was rescued by those who had witnessed the attempt. Search was at once made for Mrs. Beck's body, and it was recovered.

QUARTER OF MILLION BLAZE.

Dwight, Ill., Feb. 4.—Fire at 6:30 this morning destroyed the laboratory and office building and an other building making up the plant of the Leslie E. Kelley Liquor Cure concern, and the Livingston hotel, entailing a loss of $250,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. All of the guests had ample time to escape.

Boer Casualties.

London, Feb. 4.—Kitchener's weekly report received at the war office today places the Boer casualties during the past week at 29 killed, 6 wounded, 142 captured and 48 surrendered. It also reports that the Boers held up men employed will be increased to nearly 200.

SUGAR

SUBJECT OF MUCH POLITICAL SCHEMING.

THE SUGAR MEN'S LATEST PLAN

Claim is Made That Such Action Would Benefit United States as Well as Cuba.

Washington, Feb. 4.—A new and extraordinary plan has been devised by the representatives of the cane and beet sugar interests here which they claim will give the Cubans the desired aid without injuriously affecting the American sugar industries. This scheme has been submitted to the President and its originators assert that he promised to give it careful consideration.

The plan contemplates a heavy increase in the present countervailing duties laid by this Government against German and Austrian sugars, the justification for this being the cartel system which prevails in those countries, and which it is claimed, amounts to an indirect bounty for the German and Austrian sugar producers. This indirect bounty amounts, it is alleged, to 40 cents on the hundred pounds, in addition to a direct bounty paid by the German and Austrian governments of 27 cents per hundred.

The precise proposition submitted to the President by the representatives of the American cane and beet sugar interests is that the present countervailing duty of 27 cents per hundred laid by this government against German and Austrian sugar be increased to 67 cents per hundred.

The President is said to have referred the proposition to the secretary of the treasury for careful investigation and report. An attempt to carry into effect a scheme of this kind, would, of course, arouse keen resentment in Germany and Austria and give fresh impetus to the movement in those countries for tariff reprisals against the United States.

But the sugar growers are willing to risk a commercial war of this kind rather than surrender any of their present tariff advantages for the benefit of Cuba. They assert that their plan would give the Cuban sugar planters all the advantages as regards our market they are asking for and at the same time greatly stimulate the domestic production of cane and beet sugar.

While the latter result would no doubt follow the adoption of the scheme, it is not altogether plain that the Cubans would be benefited to any extent by it. But it is safe to predict the administration will go exceedingly slow in giving its adhesion to the scheme, which would inevitably lead to a bitter tariff war with Germany and Austria.

The suggestion, however, shows how desperately the sugar men are bent on preventing tariff concessions to Cuba.

Crusade Is Over.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 4.—After three Sundays of tightly closed saloons and cigar stores Mayor Holden has announced that the city will be allowed to resume the open policy which it has pursued before the recent crusade, which the city authorities made to give a sample of a "tight" town. He announces when the base ball season opens if there is too much objection to Sunday baseball he proposes to give those opposed a taste of their own medicine.

Let us not be too sanguine about the modernizing of China. The edicts as to the study of ancient and modern, eastern and western, political and other science, the reorganization of the educational system of the empire, etc., which so quickly followed the return of the court to Peking may be pregnant with meaning, but that meaning may not be modernization in any good sense of the word. Peking dispatches state that there is no longer any reason to doubt that the emperor dowager is the recognized sovereign, and that the nominal emperor has no more influence than he had when he was practically deposed years ago. The new governor of the province in which the capital is situated has brought a lot of educated military men from Japan and they have gone about the work of organizing and drilling the Chinese army with a zeal which may be an interesting study for diplomats, but which does not signify that China is on the road to modernization in anything but military destructiveness.

The rumors of prompt peace in South Africa were British lies. The "price that staggers humanity" is not yet paid in full.

The blasted Filipinos are still engaged in fighting against being governed without their consent. Strange, isn't it?

More Light is Demanded.

(Boston Post.)

The consensus of opinion regarding the utter failure of civil government or pacification in the Philippines and the universal patriotic desire for independence is so great that Congress cannot refuse the demand for investigation. The light must be let in upon this murky mystery.

Monopolies Effect No Saving.

(Springfield, Mass., Republican.)

Capital and high-salaried managers profit chiefly from the trust regime. The industrial combination as now known in the United States has effected no saving whatever, as a rule, in the management of production, and in many cases it has largely increased these costs. And there is reason to believe that its economies in other directions are mainly to be found in the original prospectuses rather than in the after achievement.

Save the Brave Remnant.

(St. Louis Republic.)

There is so fine an appropriateness in the offer of the Dutch government to assist in bringing about peace between Great Britain and the two South African republics that the whole civilized world should unite in the hope for England's acceptance. In all likelihood the offer is based on a knowledge that the Boers will accept the cardinal points of the British peace terms. The world is weary of the South African tragedy. Whatever can be saved for the Boers should be saved. At any rate, humanity now asks that the South African Dutch be shielded from extermination. Let there be peace for the remnant of a brave people.

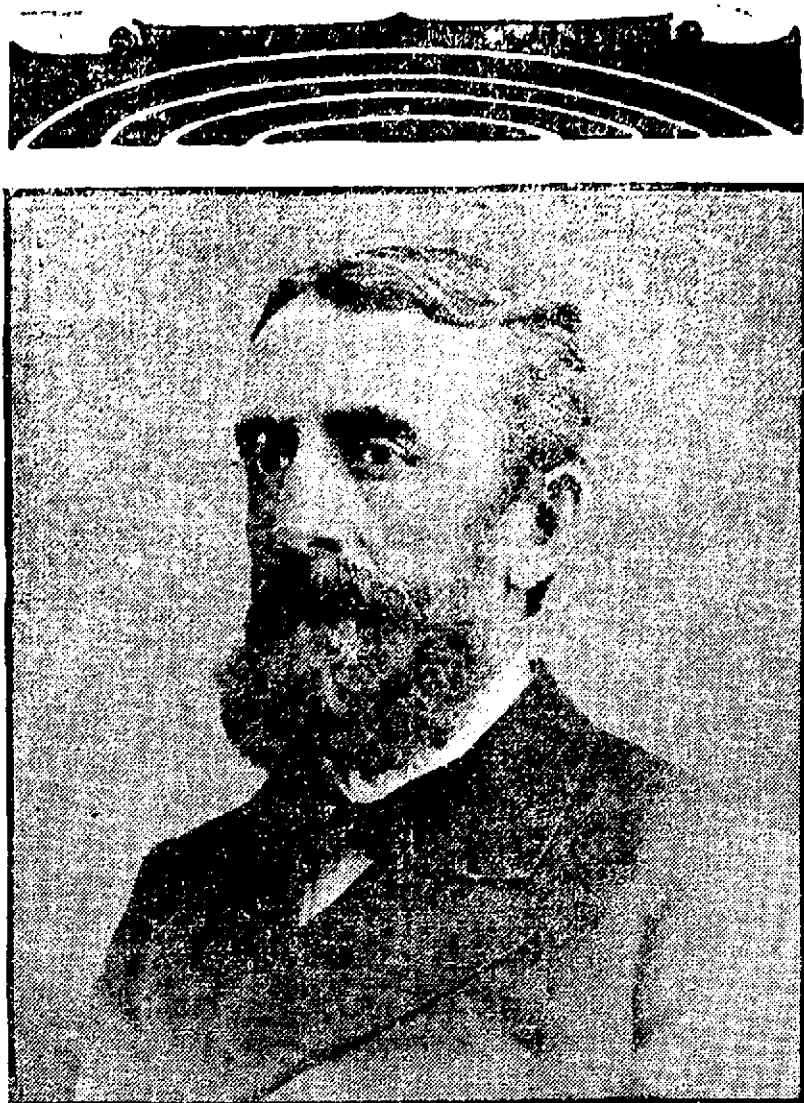

Tribute That Should be Abated.

(Kansas City Star.)

The Republican leaders in Congress are framing a bill to reduce taxes. Under the present system a surplus is piling up. The government has no right to take from the people more than the necessary expenses. Furthermore, a surplus is a temptation to extravagance and corruption. Tax reduction is right. But why revise merely the war revenue schedule? Even the dominant party admits there are grave faults in the tariff act. Why not correct them? Why not consider abating some of the tribute that the people pay to help support certain stalwart infant industries?

SAVED BY DUST.

How a Handful of Soldiers Fooled General Early.

"Did I ever tell you how clouds of dust once saved Washington city from what many people believe would have been certain capture at the hands of the Confederates?" asked a member of the old Veterans' Reserve corps, which was on duty at Fort Stevens during the war.

"It was when the Army of Northern Virginia was just outside the Capital City. You may remember that General Early, who was in command of this particular division of the Confederate forces, in writing to refute statements published in northern papers to the effect that he could easily have marched into Washington, said: 'I knew the defenses were weak when I arrived, but my troops were so exhausted from the enforced march that a halt was absolutely necessary, and the next morning I knew, by clouds of dust, that reinforcements had arrived.'"

"That dust, gentlemen, was raised by a few men, not exceeding 100, of the Veteran Reserve corps. The temporary commander of this company, a stout man of medium height, whose name or rank I did not learn, because he wore no blouse or insignia, placed the men in line in the rear of and between Fort Stevens and Fort Slocum. After making a short speech in which he urged every man to do his best he directed us to march down some distance on the grass past Fort Stevens. Once there he told us to break ranks and right about, returning in the middle of the road and kicking up all the dust we possibly could."

We doubled on the line, marching down on the grass and coming back in the dusty road. It was a dry season, and we all had on broad soled shoes. We made the dust fly, I tell you, and it is no wonder General Early thought reinforcements by the thousands had come to the relief of the handful of men duty at the forts."—Washington Star.

LADIES AT DINNER.

From the Position of Carver to the Principal Seat.

The presence of ladies at dinner was brought about by necessity more than by the gallantry due to their sex. Servers and henchmen were superseded by lady carvers, who worked at a side table. In Elizabethan times at private dinners it became usual to place the principal joints and grand pieces at the upper end of the table, above the salt, so the chief guests could see the joints and secure choice helpings. We have something of this kind in the habit which prevails at restaurants of first showing the game, poultry, etc., to the diners before carving. The place which was once the fair sex from necessity was soon claimed by them as their right, and they passed from the menial position of carver to the occupants of the principal seat. The lady had helpers who deemed it an honor to serve her in their turn.

In this duty of semiprofessional carver lies one of the first causes of the paper frills for legs of mutton, etc., for it was used in every case where the operator had to grasp some tangible part of the joint with the left hand. In 1863 a grand dame suggested that it would appear "more comely and decent to use a fork" this in spite of existing prejudice.

It was at this time, too, that travelers from Holland introduced into England the fashion of seating men and women alternately, the adoption of which put an end to lady carvers. Then the author of "The Cook's Oracle" suggested that joints and large birds should be carved before they came to table, thus starting the now prevailing fashion of carving at the side table.

HANS, THE COBBLER.

HE IS ADVISED TO START A LITERARY SHOESHOP TO BOOM HIS TRADE.

Tries the Experiment; but, as Usual, the Scheme Fails to Work and Gets Him Into All Sorts of Predicaments, With More Coming.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. E. Lewis.)

DOT coal man vvas his friend and like to see me do peesness, and he comes to my place and says:

"Hans, I shall tell you something to make you a rich man in a year. You must have a little library along with your cobbler shop. If a man wants a cement patch on his shoe, you must give him Shakespeare to read while he waits. It shall be called 'Der Shakespeare Cobble Shop,' and you shall see how much he will be appreciated. I shall lend you some Shakespeare to put in your library."

"I don't know who Shakespeare was, but I believe he vvas a good idea. Dot coal man brings me oop six books, and I put out a sign. My shop vvas open only ten minutes before a man comes in and says:

"You vvas some literary cobbler, eh?"

"I vvas," I says.

"And you haf books to read while I haf a lift out on my heel? Vbell, by golly, dis vvas a new idea, and I like it."

He looks oover dose six books in two minutes and says:

"Ah—um! I don't see dot book I want. Cobble, haf you got Robinson Crusoe?"

"I don't pelief I haf."

"But why not? She vvas der most interesting book in all der world. If you like to please your customers, you vill haf Robinson Crusoe." Shust step out and get him for me vill I wait. I like to read about his man duty at the forts."—Washington Star.

"I can't do it," I says.

"But why not?"

"I dunno, but I can't do it."

"Oh, I see! You got six books by Shakespeare and don't care if der peesles vvas pleased or not. Vvas dot some way to do peesness? Nefter! Sir, you vvas a fraud, and I shall break you oop in peesness!"

I don't say nothings, but he vvas mad and likes to punch my head for two cents. He goes out shaking his fist at me, and in two minutes a young man comes in and says:

"Cobble, a patch on dot shoe vill I tarry. How about dot free library?"

"She vvas all K. O."

"Let me see. I like to read a book by Shakespeare called 'His Own Darling,' but you don't haf him here. How vvas dot?"

"I dunno."

"But you should know. Dot vvas a book to melt your heart. You can't read him two minutes unless you cry. I vvas a bad young man before I read him, but now I vvas reformed. Shust haf me 'His Own Darling' while I wait."

"But I can't do it," I says.

"Ho, ho! So dot vvas your little game, eh? It vvas some skin game to get custom, but don't you fool mit me. If you got me mad, I vvas dangerous. Vvull you get dot book?"

"I can't."

"Dot settles it. Cobble, you vvas a liar and a fraud, and if I meet you ou der street some night I vill make you howl for mercy!"

Somev'ings vvas wrong about my library, and my wife says I shall haf troubles, but before I can fix her a man comes in mit some shoes to be half soled and says:

"Cobble, excuse my tears, but I vvas full of grier today."

"Vvas somev'ing dead?" I says.

"No; it vvas not dot. I shust feel bad because der world vvas no better, and I long to be at rest. Meus vvas cold and cruel, and if I vvas in my grave I should be glad. How vvas it about dot free library?"

"She vvas right here."

"So I see. Let me look. Haf you some book here called 'When I Vvas Dead, Nobody Can Grieve Me Any More'?"

"I don't pelief I haf," I says.

"But why not? It vvas der best book you offer read. If you read her once, you shall cry for one week. Hunt around und find me dot book."

"I can't do it."

"Oh, you can't! You don't like to oblige me, eh? You like my custom, but you don't like to get me my book. All right. Cobble, I can lick you in two minutes!"

"But why should you lick me?"

"Because you vvas a swindler und a pirate. From dis time on you look out. By jiminy, if I catch you down by der river you vvas a dead man!"

One more person comes in. She vvas a woman. She haf a heel to put on a boy's shoe, and she says:

"Cobble, you vvas der mans for me. While you fix dis shoe I shall sit down und read dot book called 'She Loved Him So.' It vvas all about a woman who loved a mans more ash twenty years. I don't know if it vvas by Shakespeare, but she vvas all right."

She don't find dot book, und she likes me to go out after it, und vhes I don't go she screams und hollers und makes a great row, und more ash feefy peesles comes around und says I vvas a bad man und a liar. Nobody goes away yet, und dot woman likes to kick my shop oover, vhen der fat policeman comes oop und yells at me:

"Another row, eh? Cobble, vvas vvas all dis about?"

"I haf some free library py Shakespeare," I says.

"Vhat? Vhat? You say he vvas by Shakespeare?"

"He vvas."

"Und who vvas Shakespeare?" he yells ash he shakes his club at me.

"I dunno."

"No, you don't know, und yet you got some books by him und leaf me out. Does Shakespeare run dis ward?"

"I can't say."

"Vvas he as big as I vvas?"

"I dunno."

"Can dot Shakespeare make you shovel snow off der sidewalk or bring out your ash barrels? Can he put out a bonfire or stop a German band? Can he arrest a dot mitout any muzzle on or make a street car stand still? Speak up, cobble, und tell me."

"I dunno."

"Don't make you know," he says, und he knocks me around till I vvas dead und tells my wife dot vhen I wake oop to say to me dot he vill come back next day und gif me a few more.

Gasoline Exploded.

Byrontown, Pa., Feb. 4.—Four persons were killed and one was probably fatally injured as the result of an explosion of gasoline in the bakery of George Carver of this place. The dead are: Henry Shaner, 38, married and leaves a family of four; Frank Shaner, his son, 13; George Gorman, 35, married and leaves a family of six; Charles Hough, 13. The injured: George Fry, injured internally, and may not live. When the fire was discovered it had gained considerable headway. The firemen were fighting the flames in the rear of the building when a terrific explosion occurred, blowing out the entire front of the structure.

Fateful Blast.

New York, Feb. 4.—Two men were severely wounded by a heavy blast of dynamite on the site of the old A. T. Stewart mansion. Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue. The men hurt are Morris Harpell, a watchman employed by a firm of builders, whose skull was fractured, and Ferdinand Holly, a furniture designer, who was painfully cut in the thigh by a piece of flying rock. A building foreman who had charge of the blast was arrested.

Lame Shoulders
Omega Oil

A person with lame shoulders comes pretty near being helpless. A lameness in the arms or leg or back is just about as bad. Some men have to stop work while suffering in this way, but a woman usually has so much to do around the house that she just has to keep going as best she can. The best remedy for lameness is rest, and a cure is reached quicker when the lame spot is bathed and rubbed freely with Omega Oil. It is an oily liniment of a green color, and is so much better than other liniments, and so different in all ways, that you should never lose time fooling with something else. All good druggists sell Omega Oil, but if you happen to go where it is not on sale, please tell the druggist he ought to get a supply of his wholesaler. If you want any pain or ache to be quickly cured, Omega Oil is the remedy that will do the work. 50c. a bottle.

AT GRANVILLE

Washington Banquet This Year Will be Given in Honor of Denison's New President.

Granville, O., Feb. 4.—The members of the Senior class of Denison University as already announced in the Advocate are preparing to give the annual Washington banquet this year as usual. As Washington's birthday comes on Saturday this year, however, it has been decided to have the banquet on the previous Friday evening, and as Dr. Emory Hunt, the new President of the university, has just taken active charge, the banquet will be given in his honor, as well as in commemoration of the immortal Father of His Country.

It is expected to hold the banquet in the parlors of the Granville Baptist church, and the price of the plates has been fixed at $1, and a special effort will be made to procure the attendance of as many of the alumni as possible and in that end a very handsome invitation has been sent out to the alumni by Mr. L. W. Smith, chairman of the banquet committee, and Mr. Mark Winchester, the secretary. The affair will doubtless be a notable one and the greatest of the kind ever held at Granville. The Newark Denison alumni are Hon. J. B. Jones, W. D. Gilbert, Judge Jonathan Gees, Judge H. M. P. Butler, C. H. Spencer, Capt. F. G. Warden, W. D. Fulton, J. R. Da-

Coshocton Authorities—Settlement Made by Directors.

(Coshocton Democrat Standard.) Messrs. Redman and Vermillion, members of the Licking county board of Infirmary Directors, were in the city several days ago, making settlement with the Infirmary Directors of this county for caring for members of the Kendall and Phillips families, who were residents of Licking county. Mrs. Phillips, it will be remembered, died at what is known as Henry town, and her husband and four children were removed to the infirmary. Kendall and wife were taken to the Coshocton county infirmary from the vicinity of Willow Brook, and later were removed to the Licking county infirmary, where Mrs. Kendall died from cancer.

The total amount of Coshocton county's claim for caring for these unfortunate was about $200.

STATE NEWS

HAPPENINGS IN ALL PARTS OF OHIO.

All Sorts of Buckeye News Items Boiled So that Only Real Facts Remain.

Springfield—Lona Chancellor, charged with poisoning her foster mother, Mrs. Sarah Turner, waived examination and was held to the grand jury without bond. Her companion, May Holland, was released under a bond of $200 to appear as a witness.

Clyde—At Vickory, six miles north Ezra Graves, a smallpox patient, is under arrest for criminally assaulting a twelve-year-old girl named Daugherty, in Putnam county. Graves was not removed, and he is quarantined.

Findlay—Jasper Dukes caused the arrest of Taylor and David Conine on a cattle stealing charge. David was sent to the penitentiary after pleading guilty. Dukes now says he believes Taylor innocent and his case was nolleed.

Bellefontaine—Miss Jessie King, aged 35, alleged to be an expert short change manipulator, was arrested at West Mansfield, where it is charged she worked several stores, securing small amounts at each place.

Mansfield—Partially demented longling to see the Fatherland, Katherine Creston wandered away from her home here and was found in a barn five miles away nearly frozen.

Chillicothe—Ida Blake, white, who says Circleville is her home, and who is only 15 years old, was taken from a resort kept by a negro and will be sent to the Girls' Industrial Home at Delaware.

Upper Sandusky—D. F. Butler of Marion, O., a brakeman on the Hocking Valley, was probably fatally injured at Carey by being knocked from a box car.

St. Mary's—The man killed by a Lake Erie & Western freight Saturday was identified as J. E. Graham, a blacksmith of Celina. He leaves a widow and child.

Aberdeen—Many deaths are occurring among horses here. When first affected the limbs of the animals draw up, and after a short time in this condition they die.

Delphos—H. L. Canfield of Chicago, formerly of Xenia, O., has purchased controlling interest in the Delphos (O.) Electric Light and Power company.

Warren—Wm. Dixon was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year for robbery.

Russia now possesses a school of military ballooning.

THE ESQUIMO

The Esquimo eats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

For those who have cold and thin bodies, or are threatened with consumption or any wasting disease, there is no fat in so digestible and palatable a form as Scott's Emulsion. Physicians prescribe it.

BLACK HAND

WHO PUT THAT "HAND" THERE YEARS AGO

Paper Read Before the Pioneer Society by Dr. R. E. Chambers at Zanesville, O.

Tuesday morning's Zanesville Times-Recorder contains the following article on "The Black Hand—Who Put that Hand on the Rock?" being a paper read before the Pioneer and Historical society of Muskingum county, a few days ago by R. E. Chambers:

Some time during the fifties articles appeared from time to time under the non-de-plume of "Black Hand." These were devoted to a history of the "boys and girls of 1826." They were pleasing and readable and were very lavish in extolling the attractive traits of character that adorned the developing womanhood and manhood of that period.

It is true that the writer of this, as he placed in contrast the boys and girls of 1846, was deeply impressed with the thought that deterioration had evidently taken place, or the advancement to a higher plane of attractive characteristics or else that the historian had overdrawn on his imagination, for this chronologist felt that the superiority of 1846 over 1826 was so manifest that a disinterested historian would admit the facts as here assumed.

At the conclusion of his article he asks the question, "Who put that hand on the rock?" or who painted the hand on the rock?—for it had the appearance of having been painted.

This rock is near the station on the D. & O. railroad which bears the name "Black Hand." It is on the canal bank on the borders of Muskingum county and Licking county, and was a place of much note as a pleasure resort in my boyhood days. It was a large rock with a face some eight feet high with a projecting rock of some feet out and even over the canal. This hand was perfect and Mr. Sheppard, who had taken much pains to see if he could find its origin, traced its history back to 1816 and the first traveler found this hand on the rock. The Indians did not use the open hand as an insignia to convey or perpetuate events, hence they could not account for the hand.

To give what I thought was the best solution to a question of so much interest, I was disposed to use the find of David Wyrick and a friend who had taken advantage of a removal of a large mound for the stone and dirt it contained by the B. & O. railroad a work of our prehistoric citizens of a time we know not of. David Wyrick and his friend who had been deeply interested in this mound in the years past, and as to what it might contain, determined to explore to a greater depth than the removal of the accumulations by the railroad.

They were not long in striking a rock in their descent and finding it was single and elongated continued their work until they uncovered it. They found the top was of the character of a slab, which on removal revealed the skeleton of what was once a human being. While decomposition had been perfect, the mould of covering over the remains gave evidence of bones as if the body had been clothed with a woolen garment. They removed the stone coffin and found beneath it a stone of a foot and a half in length.

That gave evidence of having been sharpened and upon handling it they found that it contained something in its interior. They, with some trouble, opened it, finding inside a stone 12 inches long and 4 inches wide and an inch in thickness. It had a neck broken off in the end was a hole. This gave evidence of having been worn as if a strap had been inserted and it was carried in this way.

They were much astonished to find engraved on one side an outline or profile of a man in the dress of a Hebrew and on the other side characters which they could not make anything out of. Living in Newark and having knowledge of the Episcopal minister as a man of fine education they went with it to him, and he took the stone and was greatly astonished to find that the characters were Hebrew. He said he would see if he could read or decipher it. He did so. Calling to him his Hebrew work, he was able to translate nine commandments, on which was left off.

Feeling that his translation was not correct and having a knowledge of Rev. Matthew Miller of Monroe township, this country, who was at that time at his home from New York where he had been laboring in his efforts to convert the Jews, and knowing that he was greatly distinguished as a Hebrew scholar, he wrote to him of the find, asking his assistance.

His deep interest in that people caused his immediate trip to Newark. One of the letters of characters was not closed at the top, and for fear that he should be mistaken in view of this character he went to Cincinnati to a Hebrew rabbi, and presented to him the tablet. His translation was the same as that of the two other ministers. His attention being called to this variation in the letter, he said: "This is ancient Hebrew that you know nothing about." Rev. Matthew Miller said to me that the dating on this tablet ante-dated the birth of Christ eight thousand years.

This hand pointed to the mound that contained the last rabbi who ministered at the altar. Doubtless when his work was done his followers gave a burial that went to show their love and esteem, in the mound they raised over his remains and the tablet that was as a guide to their faith, and then put the hand on the rock, pointing to the place of his burial.

RICE'S DEATH

Was the Millionaire Chloroformed or Did He Die of Heart Disease? Patrick's Trial.

New York, Feb. 4.—The trial of Lawyer Albert T. Patrick, charged with the killing of Millionaire Wm. M. Rice was adjourned over this morning until tomorrow on account of the illness of John D. Campbell, a juror.

New York, Feb. 4.—The trial of Albert T. Patrick for the murder of William M. Rice, the millionaire, reached the stage where the exact cause of his death was called in question before the court. The testimony opened up the inquiry: Was Mr. Rice chloroformed to death, as the prosecution claims, or did he die of heart disease as the defense maintains? These two questions were what the opposing counsel contended over before Recorder Goff and the jury. The state placed on the stand Rudolph Witthaus, Professor Henry H. Witthaus, chemical and pathological expert, and E. F. Donlin, a former coroner's physician, to prove the chloroform theory. Dr. Donlin testified that when he performed the autopsy on Mr. Rice's body he found all his organs normal except that there was a congestion of the lungs co-extensive with these organs. The defense tried to show that this congestion might result from heart or kidney disease and that the presence of mercury might have been caused by embalming fluid.

Attacks on Negro Miners. Chattanooga, Feb. 4.—Almost a reign of terror exists in the vicinity of the Millstone mine of the Cumberland coal company, 17 miles above Crossville, in Fentress county, this state. Some dissatisfied miners and other men recently posted a notice, signed with skull and crossbones and in red ink, warning the negroes, a few of whom are employed about the mines and at the company store, to leave at once. The negroes did not leave, and the mob has twice fired into their cabins. The last time the negroes returned the fire and the mob retreated. Later the mob attacked the company's commissary, but William Nixon, son of Manager Nixon, at the head of a number of white employees, charged the mob with Winchester and a pitched battle ensued, the mob retreating to the woods.

MR. PHILIPPS

HAS TENDERED RESIGNATION AS PROSECUTOR

Judge Jones Will Take Action on Resignation and Appoint Prosecutor Wednesday.

It is authoritatively announced that Prosecuting Attorney Thomas W. Philipps has written out his resignation and placed it in the hands of Judge John David Jones.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock was the time fixed by the Court for the hearing of the charges preferred against the Prosecutor and it is probable that the resignation, prepared late Monday afternoon, will be acted upon at that time.

There is no question that the resignation will be accepted and interest now centers in the appointment it will be necessary to make to fill out the unexpired term of a year.

Judge Jones will make an appointment Wednesday morning.

SYRUP OF FIGS

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinal, laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality, and its action on the bowels, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from figs and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

DOESN'T REDISTRICT

Bill Launched Defining Ohio's Congressional Divisions.

OLD ARRANGEMENT SATISFACTORY.

Twelve Days' Outing Proposed For the National Guard—Resolution to Submit to the People the Question of Licensing the Liquor Traffic, Ohio Intelligence.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Representative Williams of Mahoning county introduced a joint resolution in the house providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment to the qualified voters of the state permitting the licensing of the traffic in intoxicating liquors. Several times a similar amendment has been voted down and it is hardly probable that the general assembly will adopt the resolution. The amendment provides for license with local option.

Bills were introduced in the house as follows: Mr. Hagenbuch, sundry appropriations; Mr. Castle, to forbid the use of machinery attached to railroad cars not fit or safe for use; Mr. Cannon, to prohibit the indiscriminate distribution of samples of patent medicines or any article containing dangerous substances; Mr. Johnson, to prevent incorporations from reducing the amount of their capital stock below the amount of paid-up capital; Mr. Willis, providing for the publication of a roster of all Spanish-American soldiers; Mr. Denman, to permit husband and wife to testify as to the general acts of the other, but not upon facts pertaining to the marital relations.

In the senate Mr. Patterson introduced what is known as the Hurd-Dick plan of redistricting the state for congressional purposes. It does not disturb but reaffirms the districts as at present constituted. Under the present law the Republicans have 15 sure districts, with two doubtful, or reasonably close—Columbus and Dayton—both of which are at present represented by Republicans.

Other bills introduced: Mr. Hanna, to modify the law which now makes it impossible for a public officer to hold active interests in a contract for public work; Mr. Harding, to provide for 12 days' camp of the National Guard; Mr. Rorer, to permit the consolidation of railroads which are competing lines. House bills passed in the senate: Mr. Denman, to authorize $25,000 Toledo fire department bonds; Mr. Sharp, to authorize the trustees of the Boys' Industrial school to sell power.

School Building Burned.

Toledo, Feb. 4.—But for the prompt and heroic action of the teachers of the Nebraska Avenue school there would certainly have been a heavy loss of life among the pupils. A short time prior to the time to begin the morning session of school fire broke out in one of the schoolrooms, and within a few minutes the building was filled with smoke. The children were at first horror-stricken, but the principal gave the fire signals and the children, 50 in number at once fell into line and marched from the burning building in perfect order. The fire started from an overheated furnace, and the loss was about $10,000.

Lawyer Suicides.

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—Charles W. Morrow, 37, an attorney and politician, committed suicide by hanging at his home. Worried over business matters. He came to Columbus from New Vienna, O.

Waterbury Fire.

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 4.—A revised list of losses as a result of the great conflagration is very difficult to obtain at this time. Few know just what the loss was from their buildings and stock. It is believed that when the truth is known $3,000,000 will not be far from the correct estimate. There is a strong suspicion that the fire which completely destroyed the Scovell House, burning thousands of dollars' worth of furniture, apartments and personal effects and imperiling many lives, was the work of an incendiary. The fire originated in the pool and billiard room in the basement of the house, on the fourth side from the burning district. There has been more or less disorder about the streets, but the police have been very active and the militia has been of great service in handling the crowds.

Wood Uges Concessions.

Washington, Feb. 4.—A circular letter has been received by members of the senate from General Wood, military governor of Cuba, urging concessions on Cuban sugar coming into the United States. General Wood says: "I desire to invite your most earnest attention and consideration to the economic conditions existing in Cuba today, conditions which threaten to bring ruin to her principal industries, sugar and tobacco, unless prompt and efficient relief is given. With the ruin of her two principal industries we must give up all hopes of a stable government, for unless Cuba can sell her products at a reasonable profit it is obvious that their cultivation must cease bringing idleness and hunger to her people."

Deed of Bandits.

Las Vegas, N. M., Feb. 4.—Seven bandits entered the P. M. Co. Mercantile company's store at Fort Sumner, N. M., shot Felipe Bañon dead and shot Francisco Zamora seriously. They then stole $400 worth of goods, robbed the postoffice and escaped.

SECOND FREE DISTRIBUTION

OF COKE DANDRUFF CURE

AT R. W. SMITH'S DRUG STORE

The free challenge distribution of Coke Dandruff Cure in this city 2 short time ago was so successful that R. W. Smith & Co., manufacturers of this wonderful remedy, have decided to make another free distribution from Jan. 10 to Jan. 15, Drug Store, Thursday and Friday next. This will give many people who were disappointed in, or unable to secure samples during the former distribution, an opportunity to try the best and only guaranteed cure for Dandruff, Falling Hair and all Scalp Troubles. FREE. A large number of samples will be on hand to meet every demand. The A. R. Bremer Co. is desirous of allowing every one to try for themselves the merits of this wonderful remedy, as many spurious and worthless imitations are now on the market, and a practical test is the best way to demonstrate to the public that COKE DANDRUFF CURE is the only and absolute cure for all hair and scalp troubles.

Remember the free distribution at R. W. Smith's drug store Thursday and Friday, further notice of which will appear in this paper.

REV. GEO RICHEY

Died at His Home North of Pataskala

Thursday at the Age of Eighty-Seven Years.

Rev. George Richey died at his home north of Pataskala January 30, 1902, at the age of 87 years. He had been in his usual health until two weeks ago when he was stricken down with sickness and in crying about his wife, who was seriously ill in Iowa where she was visiting. When a young man he began preaching in the faith of the Wesleyan Methodist church of which he remained a member all his life. For a number of years past he had not taken any pastoral work but frequently filled the pulpit when the pastor was absent, the last sermon being only three weeks ago. He was a man of strong, earnest convictions and had marked ability in winning souls to God. He thought no sacrifice too great to be of use to his Maker. Though well up in years he was still active and energetic in every way and was always busy on his farm where his oldest son lived with him. Besides the widow, he leaves three children, W. T. L. L. and Mrs. Elizabeth Butler, all of this county, nine grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the late home on Saturday by Rev. H. L. Smith and the remains interred in the Pataskala cemetery beside the wife of his youth who preceded him to the spirit world in 1883.

A Jolly Ride.

The Sixth grade pupils of the West School building went sleighriding. Those who went were Miss Kirby, Mary and Carrie Summers, Bessie and Callie Markham, Imo Bailey, Grace McMillen, Ethel Patterson, Georgia Jakqua, Elsie Fisher, Laurine Vander, Lest and Carrie Lytle. The boys were: Edward Fisk, Norris Hiles, Lordy Bates, Howard Williams, Gail Sinky, Alva Cramer, Dwane Fulton, Frank Welch, Willie Reed, Harold Rickart, Clarence and Fred Chilcott, George Schaller, Fred Coffman, Russell Rathbone, Mack Patterson, and Russel Galikway.

The city of Nantes has an inexpensive method of supplying room to the destitute, as well as providing them with lodging for the night. For several years the city has managed a system of municipal kitchens, where persons without money may present tickets and procure a warm, substantial meal. The city has also recently erected one of these buildings, having a dormitory with beds for the accommodation of about fifty persons.

CITY COUNCIL

TWO ELECTIVE OFFICES MADE APPOINTIVE.

Rev. Mr. Schindler Addresses Council on City Hospital—Officers' Reports—Resolutions.

The City Council met Monday evening with President Harry Russell in the chair and Members Brand, Dearth, Jones, Lamb, Phillips, Russell, Smith, Spees, Stecher, Frumholtz, Linn, Moser, Shaw and Miller present.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved. An ordinance was read for the first time to establish a grade on Cedar street from "East Main" street to a point 54 feet north of cemetery of office door; passed under a suspension of the rules.

An ordinance was read for the first time to establish the grade of Elm street from Locust street to Log Pond run bridge; passed under suspension of the rules.

The finance ordinance was read and passed. The Mayor reported $6 collected during the month of January; received and filed.

Market Master Caleb Bourner reported $18.55 collected during January; received and filed.

An ordinance making the Superintendent of the Electric Light Plant an appointive office was read for the third time and passed by a vote of 9 yeas, 2 nays, 3 not voting.

An ordinance was read for the third time making the office of chief of the Fire Department an appointive office; passed by a vote of 10 yeas, 2 nays, 2 not voting.

A petition from property owners in Oklahoma between Vail and Valley streets, asking for a drainage sewer, was referred to the sewer committee.

A communication was read from Annie Treager in which she stated that her little daughter, was hurt on Valandigham street bridge, asking for $150 damages, in which case she would release the city from all liability; referred to finance committee.

Resolutions.

Mr. Spees—That Messrs. Weiland and Brand be allowed to use the North Third street sewer at an annual rental of $20 payable in advance, the city to disconnect same at any time without notice; adopted.

Mr. Phillips—That water main on West Church street be extended 500 feet; adopted.

Mr. Russell—That the Marshal be and is hereby instructed to have the roof of the City Prison repaired at a cost not to exceed $25; adopted.

Mr. Lamb—That Civil Engineer prepare plans and specifications and estimate to improve Elm street from Locust street to Log Pond run bridge, and St. Clair from Elm to North Third streets, by paving with best fire clay paving brick; adopted.

M. L. E. Chapin of Canton, the hydraulic engineer who had been employed to draw up plans and specifications was present, and stated that the proposed water works would be strictly up to date and could be operated at the minimum annual expenditure. The plans contemplated a system which would give the city the best of fire protection and hydrant service, the latter including 140 more hydrants than now in service.

The valve feature of the proposed new plant would enable the cutting off of the water at any given place without discommoding more than two blocks. This feature was valuable in making needed repairs.

Rev. J. C. Schindler was present at the meeting and before adjournment he was invited to address the Council. He stated that he was there in the interest of the City Hospital, which, he saw, was to be abandoned.

He stated that some time ago he was connected with a board, whose headquarters were in Pittsburgh, whose business it was to aid in the establishment of hospitals. At one time he had secured for a hospital at Hazleton, Pa., the sum of $15,000. There were three things which this board required of a hospital, established or aided by them, that it be absolutely non-sectarian, non-political, and non-professional. He stated that between now and the annual meeting two weeks hence, he was going to make his business to Pittsburgh and ascertain whether the board was still in existence and make an effort to secure aid for a much needed and worthy institution.

On motion of Mr. Phillips, Mr. Schindler was asked to address the Council two weeks hence on the hospital question.

WORK OF THE GALES

Eastern Coast the Scene of Numerous Marine Disasters.

DOZENS OF BOATS POUNDED TO BITS.

Loss of Life, It Is Feared, Will Be Heavy and the Damage to Property Immense—Wrecked, Disabled and Missing Vessels Galore—Europe Also Storm Swept.

New York, Feb. 4.—Death and disaster to sailors and craft was wrought by the gale that swept the coasts of Long Island and New Jersey. From the eastern end of Long Island comes news that several bodies have been washed ashore. It is not known what vessels the men who lost their lives came from. They might have been on either the barges towed by the tug Richmond, reported as passing with New York for Newport, R. I., or the tug Chula, which passed Block Island two hours later, which left New London, Conn., for Newport News, and was returning without tow when leaving port the Richmond had three barges and the Cuba two.

Wreckage strewn the shore in the vicinity of Bellport life-saving station and one body came ashore east of this station. One barge was thrashing about near Forge River station. The finding of two other bodies was reported later from the same point. The largest piece of wreckage is the after quarter and a portion of the stern of a barge. On this last were the letters "O. P. E." The crew of the American merchantman Schep, a full-rigged ship, which went ashore on Long Beach, L. I. shoals, are still in peril.

The crews of the sailing tugs John E. Berwind and E. S. Atwood had a narrow escape from going to the bottom with their craft Sunday afternoon. Nothing was known of their plight until the arrival of the German steamer Barcelona, the crew of which rescued the tugmen. The tugs had been delivering provisions to the stranded steamer Cavour, ashore at Long Beach, L. I., and were proceeding back to this point, when the gale struck them. The waves began to wash over them, not only sweeping off everything movable, but flooding their holds and getting into the fire boxes. The seven men on each tug were in imminent danger of death for over two hours. The tugs were absolutely helpless and gradually sinking when the Barcelona hove in sight and took the half-frozen crews aboard. Within half an hour after this the two tugs went to the bottom with the damage of the men.

Reports indicate that the storm all over New York state was one of the severest known for years. No trains have left Oswego since Sunday night, and with the exception of two from Syracuse none have arrived. The storm still continues, the wind blowing 40 miles an hour. A heavy snowstorm began Sunday and still rages through the Hoosack valley, and all trains are delayed. Not a train from the west on the New York Central railroad has gone through Geneva, and only two from the east have arrived. The high wind continues to blow and the mercury is falling. Serious delay to traffic on steam and electric roads in western New York has continued since Sunday morning. Traffic on freight lines has been demoralized and most of the roads are devoting their attention to keeping passenger trains moving.

Storms Abroad.

London, Feb. 4.—Reports of damage caused by the wind and snowstorm on the continent and Great Britain continue to be received. Carriage and streetcar traffic in Madrid has been stopped and railroad trains are delayed. Some of the towns in northern Spain are isolated and fruit trees have been destroyed. In Switzerland many villages are cut off from communication. Telegraphic communication with Italy is interrupted. There is now more snow in Venice than at any time during the past 25 years. The lower portion of Rome is flooded as well as the Forum, the Pantheon and the Temple of Vesta. Several more wrecks off the British and French coasts are reported and the crews of some of these vessels have been lost.

Vessels Ashore.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—The windstorm, which began Sunday and which reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour in the southern New Jersey coast and in the vicinity of the Delaware river, has greatly diminished. Reports from the south Jersey coast and Delaware river points indicate that vessels that were exposed to the gale weathered the storm fairly well. Two vessels are ashore on Brimington beach, a short distance north of Atlantic City, and two steamers are reported aground in Delaware bay, about 10 miles below this city. The British steamer Clavendish, from Atlantic port, New York, which grounded on Brimington shoal Sunday, is still fast.

Mexican Mine Disaster.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 4.—Eighty men, bodies and 10 men buried alive, was the toll in human life of a mine disaster taken from the Honda mine, which on the 28th of January, was struck by a fall of the main shaft, which caused the mine to sink and with it 80 men.

The shaft had 118 men on board and is now being raised. Twenty-five of the dead men have been taken from the shaft. The damage to property is very great.

Miss Mary Lenihan, a Young Society Lady who lives in Brooklyn, N. Y., tells how Young Women May Escape those Terrible Monthly Pains and Sickness.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suppose some of my friends would call it immodest in me to acknowledge to you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me, but I feel that seven bottles which I took last fall and winter made a complete change in my life, and brought new hopes and aspirations to me which I had not dared think of when I was sick.

"For three years I suffered silently every month; I dreaded the time, and while not sick in bed, I felt sick enough to stay there. Cramps and bearing down pains and wretched headaches were of frequent, often daily occurrence, but your Compound quickly changed all that. I am now in splendid health; I have no pains, and am so grateful to you that I feel I want to express myself, hoping it may help some suffering one to health. Yours truly, MISS MARY LENIHAN, 533 Park Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y."

Closely Guarded.

Scottsville, Ky., Feb. 4.—A tragedy occurred at Alexander, seven miles south of here. For some time an old grudge has existed between Heater, Turner and his brother James. Both brothers met at Alexander, where they renewed their differences. Heater shot his brother James dead with a double barrel shotgun, but not before James had struck Heater on the head with a hatchet, inflicting, it is thought, fatal injuries. Excitement was high at the scene of the tragedy and if Heater does not die from his wounds he may be lynched.

PARKHURST

ANSWERED BY DR. C. P. KING'S ARTICLE.

No Such Thing as Annihilation—Bible Must be Taken as a Whole.

(Communicated.)

The age in which we live is pre-eminently one not only of skepticism but of flagrant infidelity. The Bible is being assailed on every hand, and its sacred teachings have become the target not only of the ribald scoffer, but also of many who are even in high places, within the pale of the church. Our attention has recently been drawn to some very strong statements, made by at least two eminent divines occupying high positions in their respective denominations—the one a Doctor of Divinity, the other a Bishop. The former denies the infallibility of the Bible—says that the souls of the wicked die with the body at death—in other words are annihilated—that the good alone receive eternal life, as this is the gift of God. The latter denies the miracles of Christ as recorded in Holy Writ, and says they are figments of the imagination—fairly tales legends, and are not to be accepted as authentic. Now both of these positions strike at the very root of Inspiration. Of course, this is no new doctrine, it is one that has been held ever since the church was founded.

In the time of Christ, we know there was a sect called the Sadducees, who denied the resurrection. These two eminent divines, just spoken of, of course, give this as their own opinion. That some may be led astray by these men, there can be no doubt but we believe, that the honest believer has too much good solid sense to be carried away with any such clap trap or chaff, even if it does emanate from those eminent in the church.

Let us look at the subject for a few moments. In the first place, we must take the Bible as a whole—it will not do for us to pick out a passage here and there and say, "this part we believe," and "that part we disbelieve." It must be taken as a whole—or a system. If we do this, we need have no fears, but what it will stand the most searching scrutiny.

Let us meet these two divines on their own ground. One says that the wicked are annihilated—in other words they are destroyed—the bad are destroyed at death, the good alone receive everlasting life. Now it has been demonstrated over and over again, by the greatest chemists, that have ever lived, that there is no such thing as annihilation. Nothing is ever destroyed. It is merely change of form—the particles composing our bodies when laid away in the grave, are never destroyed. They merely dissolve into their original elements. The soul, however, the ego, the person he individually, lives forever and ever, is indestructible.

The Bible distinctly states that the souls of the righteous at death, "shall go into everlasting happiness" and "the souls of the wicked shall go into everlasting misery." The same word is used in both cases. Now if the same word and in the original, applies to each, how are we going to discriminate between them? It is logic to suppose that there can be no annihilation here, as to just what Christ intended to teach. If the happiness of the good is to be eternal, the misery of the bad must of necessity be eternal. No heaven, no hell. As to what that state in hell may mean—person of course, differ. Some believe in literal hell—an actual burning with fire and brimstone, while others think it will be mental suffering.

We are inclined to the latter belief. Whatever that suffering may be, we know it will be terrible. We are told that mental suffering is much harder to bear than corporal. Many speak of the infinite love of God, and say that it is not reasonable to suppose that a God of infinite love and compassion should damn any of his creatures to all eternity. They lose sight of the justice side of God—they must remember that he is a God of justice as well as a God of love—that he cannot look upon sin with any degree of allowance. While this is true, we should remember that he has provided a way of escape from punishment for even the vilest of sinners, by offering His own Son to die upon the cross in their stead. Here is love tempered with justice. The sinner cannot say that a way has not been provided for his escape from misery. He can accept or reject it, just as he pleases. God does not force any one into the Kingdom of Heaven. We are free agents. We can choose or reject, as we please. God does not condemn any man to perdition. He condemns himself. His own conscience will be a witness against him at the Great Day.

There are many persons, who while in the flesh of health and vigor, who have a long life before them, who, in the midst of these great questions, and glide smoothly along life's highway and say, "there is nothing in the Bible to fear. I don't believe in its doctrine; they are good enough prayers for weak women and children to be true, but for a man of intelligence they are not only ridiculous but positively absurd."

Not so when they come to die. When they are on their death bed, and are looking with in many cases terror at what is beyond this fleeting breath they shudder, and appeal for mercy from God. This has been the experience

MAKES AN APPEAL ON BEHALF OF THE PRISONERS.

Suggestions to Legislature for Better Quarters at Penitentiary—Question of Parole.

(Communicated.)

To the Honorable Members of the Ohio Legislature:

When Wm. McKinley was Governor of Ohio, in one of his messages to the General Assembly, he urged the enactment of a law for the parole of life prisoners after they had served a certain period for the expiation of their offenses. Wherefore, I beg leave to stir your pure minds by way of remembrance, and urge you in the name of Justice and Humanity to give this recommendation of our lamented President the thought and consideration which it merits. I will not go so far in this connection as to claim that to offender against the laws of the state should be doomed to hopeless life imprisonment; but I do venture the assertion that if you were to look up the "cases" of the various life prisoners in the Penitentiary, a considerable percentage of them would show at least partial justification and that some of them would be found closely allied to the self-defense, which is universally recognized as the first law of our nature. Anyhow, I beg leave to submit that a certain measure of clemency to these prisoners might be committed to the wisdom and discretion of the penitentiary managers without any damage to the public welfare.

I was much gratified to notice that the Board of State Charities in its recently published report strongly recommends the enactment of a "probation law" for youthful offenders and the employment of a state agent in the interest of paroled and discharged prisoners. Surely no argument is needed to show the reasonableness and righteousness of these suggestions. The administration of Governor Nash has placed one of the best men of the state at the head of the Ohio Penitentiary and one equally as good at the head of the State Reformatory, but the important duty of properly caring for the paroled and discharged prisoners of the Penitentiary has not yet been attended to. Let me beg you to look after it during your present session—and hereof fail not.

But I very much regret that the Board of Charities did not see fit in its report to urge the repeal of the statute known as the "habitual criminal act." For I am persuaded that if the members of the Board would acquaint themselves with the operation of this law and with the "cases" of the men who are suffering life imprisonment under its provisions, they would pronounce it unnecessary and exceedingly cruel, saying nothing about its conflict with the Constitution of the state.

Let me submit to you that the repeal of this law accompanied with some reasonable provision for the care of paroled and discharged prisoners, would be an act of humanity and public justice. For verily the habitual criminal act is unconstitutional, unjust, unrighteous, un-Christian—and unnecessary.

Senators and representatives, have you ever with your own eyes, measured the length and breadth—and darkness—of the "old cells" in the Ohio Penitentiary?

Have you ever felt in your inmost souls that the locking of 1,000 human beings in such narrow dungeons, is a barbarism that no human language can express?

Can it be possible that in the state which provides such quarters for her prisoners the name of the true God is known and the religion of Jesus the Christ is deemed worthy of acceptance?

"Don't build such dark and narrow cells for your prisoners," said Elizabeth Frye to the people of England. "Your own children may be put into them."

Let me beg each one of you to examine these living tombs for himself—if he haply you all shall realize that they are not fit for the cages of wild beasts!

And may you also realize that no considerations of "cost" or "expense" should keep the great state of Ohio from providing decent and comfortable quarters for the men and women who have fallen under the condemnation of her laws.

O, that some of your number, yea, that many of you, were inspired to cry out against these cells in the ears of all the people and with a voice that would reach High Heaven!

PARKHURST AGAIN.

An Associated Press dispatch from New York to the morning papers today said:

Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, preached the third of a series of sermons on "Immortality." He continued before the service that he had received many letters of criticism of account of his previous sermons. The majority of the strictures had been upon his contention that while the soul and body were clearly distinct, it did not necessarily follow that the soul would live through all eternity. In the Bible it is taught, he asserted, that the soul "sinneth it shall die." "Soul cannot stand alone, except 't be God's soul," he continued. "Do not forget that. So that man, as man considered in his separateness is not inherently eternal, is not inherently immortal. If there is in him at any time anything that deserves to be called eternal, it is because there is at that time something which the only eternal has mysteriously possessed him of."

Since 1895 Antwerp has been the most important ivory market in the world. In the three months ending November, it sold 180,000 pounds of ivory, of which 140,000 came from the Congo basin, the greatest source of this commodity. Most of the ivory is not from animals recently killed but comes from native stores or is picked up here and there where skeletons of elephants that died long ago are run across.

The Police Department and the Board of Education continue to be the two New York City departments requiring the largest expenditure of public money. For 1902 the appropriation for the police department is $11,400,000 and for the school department $13,263,000, subject to a reimbursement by the state of $1,200,000, which will bring the school expenses this year to $12,063,000 approximately.

Long Beach, L. I., Feb. 4.—The crews of the American Clipper, Ship J. Shepp, and the British steamer Cavour, stranded on the beach here within a mile of each other are safe. Although 24 men on the Shepp suffered seriously, the weather conditions this morning were such that Captain Kendall decided to stand by his ship and his crew to a man volunteered to stay with him. The crew of the Cavour will stay aboard their ship. Both vessels may be saved.
